

Dear private

You have been engaged in intense battles for some time now, and I am pleased to hear that the situation has calmed down significantly in recent days. The enemy appears to have pulled back, and there has been little activity on their part. Your orders are to hold back and wait for supplies, we will start our attack then.